

Dan Towler Leads All Grid Scorers

Dan Towler, talented Negro halfback of the Washington and Jefferson gridders this week held down the number one spot among the nation's leading football pointmakers.

Of the team total of 97 points scored this season, the sensational halfback has scored a total of 87. His total includes thirteen touchdowns and nine points after touchdowns. The W & J team has a season's record of three victories while on the losing side twice. They have three remaining games.

Dan raised his total to 87 last Saturday scoring twice and adding one extra point in the W & J victory over Carnegie Tech 19-7.

Richard Redding, Ex-Pitching Ace, Last Rites Held

Funeral services were held Wednesday November 3 for former baseball pitcher Richard Redding who passed away last Saturday in Brentwood Hospital after a year's illness.

Redding, known in baseball circles as "Cannon Ball" was for many years one of the top speed ball pitchers in the Negro leagues.

A veteran of World War I, Redding was given a military service at Leroy Butler's Funeral Parlor, 126th Street. He is survived by a wife, Edna Redding, one sister and a brother.
